Veers honored with multiple Lakeland Rodeo Association awards

This year's Calf Roping champion placed at nine of the 11 rodeos he entered, with his best time of the season an 8.3 run at Kikino. Coming into the Finals in eighth place, he placed third both Thursday and Friday nights, split second and third Saturday night. Veer came within a half second of his top mark in the final performance of Showdown 2001 to earn the 40 points for first place in the ground and the winning total of 125 points over five performances. Matt offered sincere thanks to his traveling companions on the rodeo circuit, as well as to his wife Kim and his parents for Mayor Buck said it was "a poorly arranged time for the meeting", just after the Minister was told there was no more money available. The Minister, who was once named Elk Point's honorary mayor when she was the Energy Minister, "couldn't Another road project in Elk Point's residential area is going ahead. Funding, which included two years of infrastructure grants, has been approved for the project involving 56 Avenue and the northern portion of 50 Street, and will include replacement of cast iron water lines. This replacement will allow for higher water pressure in the area.

The mayor fielded questions about Elk Point's new waste transfer station. County residents pay for garbage disposal in their taxes, while Town residents and businesses are billed monthly for garbage pickup service. Buck explained that refrigeration units must have a sticker indicating that they have been drained of their chemical before they can be placed in most landfills or transfer sites, "but

No site has yet been approved for the regional landfill. After three years of looking for a site, one site was tentatively approved in the St. Paul grazing lease, but one individual in the area has opposed it. The site meets all the criteria, and "election or not, we should be doing what we think best. We've been fooling around with this long enough." Buck added that "the whole

ASCSRA salutes their dedicated Zone 7 volunteers

The Alberta Senior Citizens Sports and Recreation Association saluted its Zone 7 volunteers on Sunday with awards presented at a banquet in their honor at Elk Point Senior Recreation Centre.

Twenty-two members received 15-year service pins and volunteers from each area of the zone were presented with mementos. Evelyn Reiter, an area director since 1987, was presented with a plaque as was the Ashmont seniors group, who were honored for their efforts in arranging the annual ASCSRA picnic.

Fred Eales of Wainwright, who has been secretary-treasurer of the zone association for many years and also organizes travel for them was presented with a special provincial award as the senior in the zone who best exemplified volunteerism not only to ASCSRA but also to their community.

Also honored were the zone's 134 participants who brought home 51 medals from the Alberta Seniors Games and the Elk Point Toe Tappers who performed a demonstration at the games.

ASCSRA's volunteers were also celebrated by the afternoon's speakers. Mayor Ed Buck said Elk Point has always been proud of its strong volunteer component, and said that as residents get older, "they seem to volunteer more often." One of these senior volunteers, Lillian Palinka, was honored by the Town this year for her many volunteer efforts, which include being one of ASCSRA's directors.

Pastor Jim MacLellan of Elk Point Baptist Church is one of Elk Point's volunteers, and offered some suggestions on the care and retention of volunteers. Care, he said, is the keyword, noting that each letter stands for a way volunteers should be treated, with C for communicating confidence and trust, A for giving them the authority to do their job, R for respect, and E for encouragement and giving them courage to carry on.

ZONE 7 director Lillian Palinka presents flowers to Margaret Modin of the Pioneer Circle.

Provincial ASCSRA President Paul Boisvert of St. Paul added another "R" - renewal, saying that "organizations die when they are not prepared to be renewed. At a certain point in our lives, we wish we could go back to the way things were, we're continually being renewed, and that is good." He added that we "sometimes don't realize the impact of volunteerism, the things that wouldn't happen without it." The first kind of volunteerism in the community was "out of necessity - barn raisings and helping with the harvest... a moral responsibility," Boisvert said. During World War II, volunteering "for some was a morally right thing to do, for others, an adventure." After the war, Boisvert said "another type of volunteer came into play, driven by belonging to organizations.. this evolved into a period of building arenas, curling rinks and seniors homes... a type of volunteer manipulated by money. Now there has been another evolution because the affluence, when many things were taken over by the government, has been tightened up, and we have forgotten about what volunteers do." He predicted the next generation "will be the ones we count on, and we must set an example to feed their desire to do the morally right thing." Entertainment by local volunteers was also part of the afternoon. Jope Langejans was accompanied by wife Karen on flute as he sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I Believe."

Young Brendan "BJ" Bailey was accompanied by Henry Botting on guitar as he sang "Amazing Grace." He followed up with "Louisiana Saturday Night" and "Summertime Blues." Versatile performer Shaun Sheplaw followed up one of his Elvis favorites, "Burning Love," with a hilarious monologue about a vagabond, and came back to serenade with a ballad, "Young Love."

Special recognition went to Pioneer Circle President Margaret Modin and her husband Lawrence, who gave up tickets to a horse show at Spruce Meadows to attend the banquet, and to Daniel Peterson who made tickets and a banner for the banquet.

The afternoon ended with Jope Langejans and Shaun Sheplaw leading the singing of "Til We Meet Again."

Two new hats in the ring for Town election

Two new candidates have tossed their hats in the ring for the upcoming Town Council election. Lyle Frisby announced yesterday that he will be submitting his nomination papers for the position of mayor and Manon Joice announced last Friday that she intends to run for Council.

Only one of the incumbents has made a firm decision to run for another term. Dennis Jasinsky hopes to retain his Council seat. Councillors Mae Hendrickson and Walter Lesyk are still undecided.

Mayor Ed Buck is also undecided. He told the Chamber of Commerce last week he was "doubtful, but still haven't quite decided," and indicated to the seniors gathered for the ASCSRA banquet on Sunday that he is "looking forward to retirement. It's a good time for me to retire. I've been involved with Council on and off since 1964."

Tonight is Information Night!

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

Tonight, yes, tonight, is Elk Point Community Information Night at the Elks Hall from 7 to 9 p.m. It is a must-see. The community groups and agencies who have booked tables are: FCSS, RCMP and COPS, Iron Horse Trail, F.A.C.T., Ukrainian Dance Club, Cavalry Church, Girl Guides, Palliative Care, Red Cross, Royal Purple, Elks, Parent Nursery, Jack and Jill Playschool, Elk Point Auto Club, Friends of the Forts, Elk Point Historical Society, Christian Community Church, Tobacco Reduction and Heart Health, Elk Point Health Unit, Lakeland Regional Health - Respiratory, C & N Crafts, S.P.A.N., Mental Health, County of St. Paul #19 FCSS, AADAC, Atco Electric, Figure Skating Club, Further Education, Chamber of Commerce, Elk Point Library and Friends of the Library,

BCD Campgrounds, United Church, Snowmobile Club and Tonder Training Centre. We are so happy for all these groups who have said they are coming to Information Night. Thank you, everyone. Your contributions to the community of Elk Point are very valuable. We know you will do a great job displaying what you do. Thank you for sharing with the community. Besides coming to see what these people do, we know you will want to meet Henry "Gizmo" Williams, known as "the Giz." We feel so fortunate to have him in attendance at Information Night. Come and meet him. Mr. Sports Elk Point - our own Doug Bassett - will be a companion to the Giz, so come down and meet our very special guest. Another special happening will be found at the RCMP table. All parents of young children who would like to have the fingerprints of their own children taken for family records as kept by the child's family, will have an opportunity to do so. What else will you see at Information Night? I'll let each club and group tell you. Don't miss coming to Information Night tonight! Speaking of learning something at Information Night, there is a story told about our own Queen Elizabeth II. Apparently, when Queen Elizabeth II was ten years old, she was at Glamis Castle and received a visit by a preacher. When he was leaving, he promised to send 'Lillibet' a book. (A cute nickname for the future queen.) Anyway, the future queen replied, "Oh, thank you so much. But please let it be not about God. I know everything about Him." Wow! Now don't you admire that confidence! And to have all that knowledge! Wow! Anyway, speaking of knowledge, J. Golden Kimball is quoted as saying: "I am going to ask you a few questions, and will let you answer them. If you don't know enough to answer them, then you don't know as much as I do." Now, that is a good measuring tool! Whether or not you know everything or whether or not you can answer all questions, Information Night in Elk Point tonight is the place to be from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Elks Hall. See you all there!

■ Back-to-school Tips

Great portable snacks and lunches

By Carol Moro

Take Off Pounds Sensibly

Now that the kids are back in school, it's time to get creative with those brown-bag lunches. Kids who carry their own lunch not only control what they eat, they also save time and money by bringing their own lunch rather than eating out.

The key is to keep from falling in a rut when packing brown-bag lunches and snacks. Variety is the spice of lunch!

Breads come in so many shapes and sizes - loaves, buns, muffins, biscuits, pitas, bagels - and grains/flavors: white, whole wheat, rye, cinnamon, bran, onion and others.

Fillings for sandwiches are limited only by your imagination and the amount of time you wish to spend preparing the lunch. Possibilities include flaked water-packed tuna, chopped cooked or raw vegetables, chopped cooked lean meat or poultry, and many others.

Fruits and vegetables offer delicious taste, color, nutrition and texture variety. For best results, keep sliced vegetables on ice in a cold-pack container until lunch time.

Soups, stew, and what-have-yous not only make good use of last night's supper leftovers but seem like a special treat when away from home. To keep them hot, use a pre-heated vacuum bottle (fill with clean hot water, let stand for a minute, empty it, then immediately fill with hot food).

Consider adding any of the following to a sandwich: lettuce leaves, sliced tomatoes, alfalfa sprouts, diced green pepper, shredded carrots or sliced onion. Pack these additions separately so they don't make the sandwich soggy.

Cold foods can add even more interest to lunchtime fare. These include low-fat yogurt, cottage cheese, fresh fruit, salad made with rice or tuna or vegetables, and pasta salad. Use a vacuum bottle for cold foods, or add an ice pack or frozen gel pack to the lunch container.

Smart brown-baggers also help themselves to health when hunger strikes between meals. That's easy if their lunch bag includes snacks like these:

- graham crackers, gingersnaps or pretzels
- crisp breads
- plain popcorn
- small slices of low-fat cheese
- grapes or cherries.

Finally, if your youngster needs a little extra help in keeping his or her weight in line, consider TOPS, a non-profit weight-loss support group. A special program this year allows any new or renewing TOPS member to enroll a new teen or preteen in TOPS at no charge through December 31, 2001.

■ Letters to the Editor

Positive feedback received from neighbors of the Iron Horse Trail

To the Editor:

Recently, numerous claims have been made that suggest the Iron Horse recreational trail has been a bother to those that live adjacent to, or near the trail itself. I have been a member of the Iron Horse Trail committee for five years, and am the Treasurer for the Elk Point Historical Society, and this allows me the opportunity to frequently speak with not only trail users, but also adjacent landowners. The feedback I have received in doing so has been positive, regarding both trail uses and benefit from a recreational standpoint, and regarding the pleasures of living next to a year round, public recreational trail.

The Iron Horse Trail system allows people in the area to truly experience the beauty and history of the area through family recreational activities, including hiking, horseback riding, cross-country skiing, and snowmobiling. The Iron Horse recreational trail has been in existence for over eight years, and in that time only one single reported incident has occurred in which the property of an adjacent landowner has been disturbed.

In fact, many of the people that live next to or near the trail now see it as a benefit to their everyday lives. Not only are they mere steps away from the wonderful recreational opportunities the trail provides, but also can utilize the corridor for practical uses, such as a safer means of transportation between agricultural lands, and a more effective way to move livestock from one point to another.

I recently conducted a survey in which adjacent landowners were interviewed as per their experiences in living next to the Iron Horse Trail. Their responses clearly reflect the positives outlined within this letter, and no doubt demonstrate that living next to a public trail system has been positive. We as a society strongly encourage that any problem be brought to our attention so we may deal constructively with the issue to ensure the benefit of all.

I believe public trail systems are in the best interests of all people in our area, and are one unique way for everyone, both now and in the future, to experience the natural beauty and splendour that our environment has to offer.

Marvin Bjornstad
St. Paul (via email)

Environmental concerns of trail are not being addressed

To the Editor:

It certainly seems ironic, given the information we are bombarded with, regarding pollution (air and noise particularly) and the constant reminders of loss of habitat, that there is a movement existing to develop trails that will scare away wildlife, harm vegetation, create noise in otherwise quiet places, and contribute to the harmful substances in our atmosphere.

I do not know the statistics on emissions from quads or snowmobiles, but I do know that they are substantial. Perhaps the environmental messages and warnings are not loud or clear enough.

Not only does it seem we — as a society — are unable to learn from our past, it seems we cannot even recognize the potential for future damage.

Perry Phillips
Vilna, AB.

Adjacent landowners concerns are many and varied

To the Editor:

CN Rail Adjacent Landowners are concerned that you may not be aware of the proposed development of a "Public - Multi-Use Recreational Trail" through our Smoky Lake County on the abandoned CN right of way and on to Cold Lake.

Are you willing to see your tax dollars pay for this development? Maintenance? Policing? Public services, Fire? Ambulance? Liability? Your local advocates and Alberta Trail Net want this trail to be a future branch of the Trans Canada Trail. Please take note that most of the municipalities lowered taxes this (election) year. Anticipate a natural increase next year. However, should we allow trail development, the increase may be considerably higher than we would like.

The concerns of adjacent residents include: Safety (speed at crossings), liability, higher insurance, fire hazards, ecological concerns, policing, litter, weeds, invasion of privacy, devaluation of property, trespass, noise pollution and the potential to spread of livestock diseases.

In England — the laws allow all people access to all land. Foot and mouth disease is spreading again. To describe a public trail as a "managed approach" to rural recreation is to be naïve.

CBC News July 01/2001 — Canmore area, 14 km of trail closed because of misconduct, abuse and no respect for wildlife, land, or authority.

Kingston Whig — Standard News (Ont.) July 17, 2001 — The Region Conservation Authority, (Operator of the Cataraqui Trail) is fending off two lawsuits and two cross-suits arising from a fatal snowmobile accident on their trail last December 2000. Do you want our County to take these risks? Do not be misled by the $10 million liability insurance that the Alberta Snowmobile Association says will protect you.

Lease it to the farmers, collect some tax and hold it for the possible expansion of Highway 28.

And we get to meet the Giz as well!

By Doug Bassett
Review Sports

The time has come, the holiday is over, it's time to get off my butt, time to start writing again. Did you miss me? I sure hope so, because you won't get rid of me again until next August. August is a real dog month for sports, at least in Elk Point. That's when baseball ends, and hockey isn't going yet. I guess if I really tried I

The 2001 World Grooming Competition was held in Calgary on August 24 to 26, along with a trade show and seminars. Val Goulet of Teddy's Poodle Parlor of Elk Point was proud to attend and take part in numerous grooming seminars, also attending a canine and feline certification course.

In her 25 years of grooming, Ms Goulet is still bringing home new and innovative grooming techniques to better serve her customers.

'Mutilation' false alarm

On August 30, a news release was sent out by Elk Point RCMP stating that there was an "apparent mutilation" of a Holstein/Red Angus cow near Highway 897 and Township Road 560, approximately 19 miles southeast of Elk Point. The RCMP now say this release was in error. In the opinion of the attending veterinarian, the cow died as a result of pneumonia and was then ravaged by coyotes and other scavengers.

might have another story or two to tell about my football days at old Ancaster High and Sheridan College.

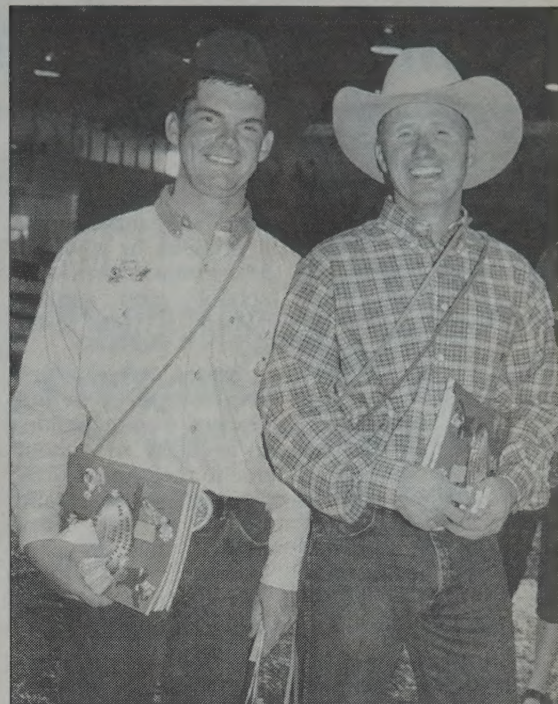

Hey, that reminds me - did you hear the news? I get to sit with the Giz tonight. That's right, Henry "Gizmo" Williams is coming to Information Night at the Elks Hall. Maybe you should come down for a visit, check it out, get an autograph, maybe even a picture, and at the same time, you can pick up your registration for hockey. Tonight at the Information Night, Minor Hockey will be set up for registration, so bring down the kids, meet Gizmo and register at the same time.

And if you miss tonight, there's registration Wednesday and Thursday nights at the A. G. Ross Arena. You know the place. The place where people meet in the winter time. Where everyone's always joking and smiling. Where little kids have fun, play hockey and figure skate, and even some oldtimers still try to lace them up, if their arms didn't shrink over the summer. The place where people meet, have coffee and gossip about hockey's politics, but hey, if we didn't have something or someone to talk about all winter, what would we do? Winter would be just as boring as

August.

And if you're really looking for something to do, the annual work bees are starting. It's time to check out the equipment, clean out the corners, spruce the place up and make sure everything is in order for another year. Everyone is welcome to come out and lend a hand, every Monday night.

And if you thing some things need a change or if you have some new ideas, don't sit back, get involved. The first A. G. Ross Operating Committee Meeting is happening on Thursday night, come out and be heard. Everyone is welcome as always.

Elk Point RCMP

On September 3, 2001 at approximately 8:37 p.m., Elk Point RCMP were advised of a single motor vehicle collision on Highway 646 just east of Range Road 63, involving injuries. The investigation determined that an ATV with an 18 year old male driver was traveling eastbound in the south ditch of Highway 645 at dusk when the vehicle struck an approach leading to a field. The operator, who was wearing a helmet, was thrown from the ATV and sustained a fractured femur. He was transported to Elk Elk Point RCMP are continuing their investigation, however alcohol does not appear to be a factor in the collision.

Retired teachers toast today's counterparts

SID HOLTHE led the toast to today's teachers.

Fifteen retired educators and educators' spouses continued their first-day-of-school tradition last week, when they gathered for breakfast at the Empress, and just at the time bells would be ringing a few blocks up the street, lifted their coffee cups to toast the new teachers facing a class for the first time, and those who have returned to the classroom for another year.

Sid Holthe led the toast, asking today's teachers to "meditate on the nobility of their profession... and the lives they may shape," and expressing a hope that "every class is ideal and every student eager to learn."

Over breakfast, each person present shared memories of their own first day of school, either as a teacher or student.

Gwen Nelson first taught at Frog Lake School near Laurier

Lake, with 14 students from Grade 1 to Grade 9 who were "very well behaved." She recalled once being mistaken for a student by a visitor who rode up to the school and asked, "Where is your teacher?"

Irene Miller's first class ranged from first graders who "shouldn't have been in school" due to their immaturity, to ninth graders taller than herself. She earned their respect, however, when she proved she could hit a home run on the baseball field.

Gabe Bayduza remembered starting school as a newcomer to the St. Cyr area, where her teacher, Mrs. Lamothe, "gave all five of us first graders a good start. I got a better start than any of my family" who started their education in larger schools.

Paul Chamberland started school in St. Paul "and never had the privilege of attending a country school," but recalled one of his teachers, a young nun who was "a beautiful lady who is still living."

Muriel Holthe's first day of school was at "a good school for those times, it had a full basement." The teacher boarded at her parents' home, and she recalled traveling to school with her brother, a young aunt and the teacher in a one-horse buggy.

Donna Chamberland started school at age 5, "because all my friends were going and I couldn't bear to be left behind." She sat in a double desk but didn't learn much that first year - "I was too busy looking around and visiting."

Sid Holthe attended the Elk Point school which was built in 1910 two miles east and a half mile south of town, and which is now the United Church Rummage Store. He "did get into trouble, but I'm sure it was my seat-mate" who made the mischief. Holthe said that a campaign is currently underway to raise $1000 to put a plaque at the school's original site.

Margaret Modin started school at age 5 in the Sugden area, walking two miles each way and having January off because of bad weather. She recalled one day walking into the schoolyard and finding all the students standing silently in lines while the strict teacher attempted to find who had decorated the toilet wall with graffiti.

Olga Ockerman attended Middle Creek School from grades one to nine, with only three teachers in that time. "I wonder how the teachers managed with all the students, and none of them started knowing English." She recalled her classmates as a lively lot, with sometimes "not enough corners" to hold everyone who misbehaved. She also recalled the traveling library boxes, with everyone eager to read the books before they moved on to another school.

Lee Wruth first attended a school in southern Saskatchewan which is now used as a chicken house and said he "wasn't exactly a little angel," once chopping a hole in the back of the school horse barn to win at hide-and-seek, and then when kicked out of school until the barn was repaired, nailing the door of the boys' toilet over the hole. In his third year of teaching, he taught 42 students in grades one to 10 at a small school in the Yukon where a number of the Grade 1s couldn't speak English. His wife Mabel, going to school at Halfway, located between Waseca and Maidstone, SK, recalled her father walking to school ahead of her to break trail through the deep snow.

Lawrence Modin remembered going to school "barefoot until the snow came," at Fidelity, north of Vermilion. He took his first ten grades of schooling there before going to high school in Mannville. The Fidelity school had a potbelly stove attached to the chimney by a long string of stovepipes which fell down one day, and he helped to put them back in place.

Irene Melin first taught at Thorsby, 28 students in grades one to nine, with "some boys nearly as old as I was - I danced with them at the country dances." The school was heated by a stove fueled by stoker coal which was "a monstrosity - it smoked and did anything but burn." Her own school days were as one of 31 pupils at Fern Chapel School, which was the subject of a poem she read at the breakfast.

Sylvia Boothman started school in Vermilion in a building which is now the medical clinic. She recalled the Grade 1 students being dismissed half an hour earlier than other students for the lunch hour, with the boys in the class rattling a door and disappearing, leaving the girls to take the blame and being punished by sitting on the "bad boys bench. It was humiliating, but we were too petrified to say we didn't do it."

Myrna Fedorus started school at Spring Park at the end of World War II during a shortage of teachers. Her first year was taken by correspondence - with a supervisor until the first of May, when Phyllis Aarbo (now Scott) finished her teacher's training and came to teach them for the final two months.

The morning of reminiscence was brought to an end by Sid Holthe, who noted that "so many people got a start in these little country schools."

SCHOOL BELLS no longer summon these retired teachers to the classroom, but they were up bright and early on the first day of school to toast today's counterparts as they begin another school year.

All St. Paul county councillors will run for re-election

By Joseline Gionet
Staff Writer

All six of the current County of St. Paul #19 councillors will be seeking re-election in their individual ridings in the October election.

In Division 1 Allen Young will be running for another term. One of his priorities is the state of his division's roads.

"Since we're getting rid of the secondaries December 31 we'll have more time to focus on our other roads," says Young.

On December 31 the province will be taking over the care and maintenance of secondary highways.

In Division 2 the seat has been vacant since councillor Raymond Danyluk left to take his position as MLA for the St. Paul/Lac La Biche constituency.

In Division 3 councillor Don Mudryk will be going for a second term and he says some of his priorities include finishing paying off the County debt and lowering taxes in the County in line with the provincial average.

In Division 4 councillor Mike Bergeron will be running again.

In Division 5 current Reeve Robert Bouchard will be seeking re-election for his eighth term of office.

"I quit after eighteen years and took a few years off and the first year I thought I was in heaven but after that I began to get bored," says Bouchard.

Bouchard says he is willing to serve as Reeve of the County again if the council would like him to.

"If there is someone else who would like to be Reeve and I feel confident they have the ability then I would support them."

In Division 6 councillor Frank Sloan will be running again.

In Division 7 Walter Kaprowski will be running again. One of his goals for next term is to lower taxes to bring them more in line with the provincial average.

All councillors polled feel the decision the County council made to put the question of a trail on the abandoned CN rail line on the upcoming election ballot was a good one.

"A petition only requires 10 per cent of the population, this will give everyone a chance to voice their opinion on it and whatever the taxpayers say we will abide by," says councillor Kaprowski.

Councillor Young is in definite support of a trail on the line. The current Iron Horse trail runs through Young's division.

Councillor Mudryk has some concerns about the trail issue and sees good arguments on both sides of the issue.

"We have no intention of putting a lot of money into a trail if one is built, and if we do get a trail I hope people will respect it," says Mudryk.

Councillor Mudryk and councillor Bergeron will both have a race on their hands.

Gerald Krankowski (for Div. 3) and Maxine Fodness (for Div. 4) have both announced their intentions to run in this year's election.

Sharil Baumgardner has announced her intention to run for the vacant Division 2 seat this year.

Nomination deadline for the County of St. Paul election is September 17 at noon. County elections will be held October 15.

Once the council is elected, the council votes for its own Reeve.

CRIME STOPPERS

■ Between 6:30 p.m. on August 27 and 8:30 a.m. on August 28, The Dollar Store in Elk Point was broken into. Minor damage was caused to the store by the individual(s) who gained entrance from a window near the back of the building. Approximately $200 was stolen during the break in.

■ On July 22, one of the gas pumps located at Race Trac Gas was damaged when a vehicle apparently collided with it sometime before 2:30 a.m. No one has yet taken responsibility for the damage caused to the gas pump. The gas station was closed at the time of the incident.

Anyone with information on either incident is asked to call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477) or the Elk Point RCMP Detachment at (780) 724-3964.

Crime Stoppers will pay up to $2000 for information leading to the arrest of the person(s) responsible for these or any other crime. You do not have to reveal your identity and if your tip leads to an arrest you qualify for an award.

No settlement for teachers

By Joseline Gionet
Staff Writer

None of the public school teachers across the province have made any kind of settlement with their school boards yet.

"Negotiations are not going well and the school boards are caught in the middle of it and we understand that," says Larry Booi, president of the Alberta Teachers Association.

The current public information campaign asking concerned citizens and parents to question why Alberta is facing a teacher shortage, why teachers are underpaid and why classrooms are underfunded is the current focus.

"I've been involved in this kind of thing for the past 30 years and I've never seen the mood so determined. Teachers want to know if things are going to get better," says Booi. "The reaction we're getting from teachers is that we need to do this (campaign) and it's the last way to avoid a strike."

The campaign will use radio advertisements; billboards and even a letter home to parents scheduled to come out at the end of September.

"We've set it to come out then so people have a chance to hear about the issues and talk to their MLAs about them."

Teachers are asking for a pay increase similar to that received by nurses and doctors earlier in the year - between 20 and 30 per cent.

what's NEWS at the LIBRARY?

Visit our table at Information Night tonight

By Daphne Schnurer
Librarian

Be sure to visit our table at Information Night and check out everything the library has to offer. If you aren't familiar with the library's materials and services, you may be surprised to find out all the ways that the library can inform, entertain and enhance life for you and your family.

Are you a jigsaw puzzle fan? Drop in at the library and help us build our beautiful wolf puzzle. Once completed, we will frame it and hang it in the library.

Calling all artists and crafters! The Friends of the Library are embarking on a new fundraising project. They are planning a Silent Auction of arts and crafts to be held in time for Christmas shopping, and invite you to donate an item you have created - anything from a painting to hand-knit socks to willow furniture to Christmas ornaments - to the auction. Everything will be displayed at the library for the community to place their bids on.

A similar auction held this summer at Muriel Lake raised a considerable amount of money for STARS Air Ambulance, and we are hoping the proceeds of this auction will help to offset the decrease in Friends funding which will result from holding fewer library bingos this year. Funding donated by the Friends is used to purchase materials and equipment for the library and is very necessary to its operation.

The date and time for the auction will be announced soon.

Our first Seniors Tea of the new season was a big success, with a good turnout enjoying delicious goodies and great conversation. The teas are held the first Tuesday of every month, with the next tea scheduled for October 2 at 2 p.m.

Storytime is back, on Fridays at 10:30 a.m. Everyone is welcome and there is no charge. Join us for stories and crafts. This week, weather permitting, we will be adventuring out to collect some fall leaves for a wreath. Be sure to join us!

Library Hours

Remember: we are now back to our Regular Hours: Monday, Tuesday and Thursday - 1:00 to 5:00 p.m., Wednesday: 1:00 to 8:00 p.m., Friday: 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Saturday and Sunday: CLOSED.

Faith

Church alive and well in Elk Point!

By Pastor Dick Upham
Elk Point Christian Community Church

Some of the members of our church have been sharing over coffee, after morning worship, that there is a rumor around town that our church has ceased to function, is closed on Sunday morning and has ceased to proclaim the good news of the gospel to the people of this little town. We are happy to proclaim to all and sundry that we are alive and well in Elk Point. Just as the Creator of the Cosmos, the God of our Fathers and our Father God is still alive and well, His Holy Spirit still graces the places where His name and the name of His Son, our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ is faithfully lifted up Sunday by Sunday.

It would be wrong to ignore that there have been minor interruptions and disappointments to impede the smooth transition from the much-loved Pastor who helped to bring the fledgling church into being, to a new and younger person. Currently the Pastor is even older than the Rev. Samuel Donaldson and is the writer of this article. Hopefully my tenure will be of a temporary nature and we can look for a new, more permanent replacement. However, this article is not about the pastor but rather is about the church.

The church is the people who make up the congregation, and this church is a part of the body of Christ, a part of the great Church Universal. In evidence of this, the Elk Point Christian Community Churches gas affiliated herself with the Congregational Christian Churches of Canada, often referred to as the 4 Cs. Appropriately so, because the 4Cs churches are to be found right across this great nation, from Vancouver Island to Newfoundland.

How do we know we are alive and well? Quite simply because we are growing and young families are returning from summer holidays and children are enrolling for Sunday School. There is an air of expectancy during Sunday worship as we eagerly anticipate the movement of the presence of the Holy Spirit. Jesus has promised that wherever people gather in His name He will be there and there to bless. In John's gospel, chapter 14, He promises that God will provide the Comforter-Counselor-Holy Spirit in His name (vv25, 25) and completes the promise in v27, "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give you. I do not give to you as the world gives. Do not let your hearts be troubled and do not be afraid."

The Elk Point Christian Community Church is a church that is experiencing these promises. Are you looking for peace in your life, the counseling and comfort of the presence of God? We invite you to seek those power points for living along with us and wherever the word of God is faithfully proclaimed.

ASCSRA PRESIDENT Paul Boisvert of St. Paul presented Fred Eales of Wainwright with a provincial volunteerism award at Sunday's ASCRA banquet in Elk Point.

THANK YOU

BAILEY, Brian

The family of the late Brian Bailey wishes to extend sincere thanks to all those who helped and supported us at a very difficult time. Thank you for all the flowers, cards, food and prayers we received after the passing of our beloved husband and father.

Harvest progressing across Alberta before weekend rains

Another great week of harvest weather right across the province allowed farmers to harvest 40 per cent of the crop, up from 23 per cent last week and 21 per cent a year ago. Combining is in the home stretch in the south and just starting in the Peace.

Over 55 per cent of the hard red spring wheat crop in the central region has been combined. Half of this season's barley crop is also in the bin along with a third of the canola crop. Agricore staff at Viking report crops coming off in very good condition and so far, quality is also very good. Another ten days of good weather and harvest in the Viking area will be about complete. Harvest is nicely underway in the Legacy Junction reporting area however, area farmers were delayed by spotty showers over the weekend.

In the Edmonton area, Agricore staff at the Acheson elevator report that seven per cent of the spring wheat has been harvested along with 14 per cent of the barley crops. Staff report spotty showers in this area delayed harvesting but so far, wheat is grading number one. At the Star elevator east of Edmonton, harvesting of wheat and barley is also just getting underway with eight per cent of the wheat and five per cent of the barley combined. Three tenths of an inch of rain caused some minor harvesting delays, with more rain forecast for this week.
